Preface

This collection is the result of my desire to offer quality music scores to e-book reading devices. Browsing the Kindle store, I was disappointed in seeing the lack of digital songbooks and hymns that were designed for smaller screens. As I realized the constraints of 7-inch screens are a challenge for displaying readable score with lyrics, I felt encouraged to take up the challenge and produce this kind of material myself.

Heartfelt Carols has been typeset with focus on readability and beautiful music engraving. There's no need to be zooming in and out in order to make sense of the words and music. The selected songs are heartwarming and are sure to inspire true worship to Jesus Christ. This is my desire to those who choose to sing these timeless carols in the digital format.

I'm much indebted to Lilypond, an outstanding open source engraving software, which provides excellent output “out-of-the-box”; and Benjamin Bloomfield (author of A Collection of Christmas Carols), for freely providing the “base files” for this work.
